First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Judge Murray Gurfein, Pentagon Papers case, June 17, 1971:

"The security of the Nation is not at the ramparts alone. Security also lies in the value of our free institutions. A cantankerous press, an obstinate press, a ubiquitous press must be suffered by those in authority in order to preserve the even greater values of freedom of expression and the right of the people to know."

A day late and many dollars short.

Big weekend coming up!

The encampment, however, has been scaled back, but it's still going to be held (see page 3). Organizers say there's a shortage of cannon-grade gun powder, so they won't be firing off the five big cannons. But they will fire off the small cannon throughout the day, and the muskets.

Oh well. It's still a cool thing, though. You should still definitely go. That little cannon makes a pretty big boom.

The Memorial Day parade is on Monday (see page 3), and it looks like the weather is going to be perfect. So, make sure you set aside a little time to watch the parade go by and show your support for those who served in the military.

Just stand along the route, or at the end to show your support. Or go to the high school and watch them raise the big flag. That is a sight to see. It's a beauty, and it's big, and up against the backdrop of the high school, it's spectacular.

We had a couple of cool celebrity sightings lately. Our own Barbara Despres chatted up Tommy Lee Jones, and Jeff Cardoza had an honest-to-goodness beer with Ben Foster. Check out pages 12 and 13 for that...Barbara on page 12, Jeff on page 13.

Our cover story is the Huttleston Marketplace, and that's where I just happened to run into the now-famous Barbara Despres and got to ask her a few questions.

The marketplace has all kinds of fun stuff to look at and buy every Saturday (page 12). As the season progresses, they will have local produce, too.

There's other stuff in here, of course. As you page through, be sure to notice who our advertisers are so you can tell them you saw their ads in the Neighb News.

Until next week then...see ya,

Fort Phoenix Encampment plans changed

Due to a nationwide shortage of cannon-grade black powder, the Fairhaven Village Militia regrettably will not be firing the Seacoast Defense cannons as part of the group's annual encampment at Fort Phoenix this weekend.

The militia will hold a one-day encampment on Saturday, May 28, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on the ledge near the large cannons, weather permitting. There will be musket drilling and the firing of the small portable cannon throughout the day, as well as demonstrations on daily life in a Revolutionary War camp.

Talk to period costumed men and women about the fort's history and life in the 1770s.

Select Board approves changes at Aquaculture site, A&A

By Beth David
Editor

The Fairhaven Select Board held two public hearings at its meeting on 5/23/22, approving changes to the aquaculture license of Blue Stream Shellfish, and approving expansion plans for A&A Auto.

Dale Leavitt, one of the co-owners of Blue Stream Shellfish, which operates an oyster farm on the north side of the causeway, asked the board for an amendment to their license. Mr. Leavitt said they want to install a small nursery to grow oysters from seed. He said they need a floating upweller, aka a FLUPSY, but need an amendment to their license for it.

The system will be completely solar powered and not reliant on connection to the grid.

Harbormaster Timothy Cox spoke in support of the project. He said oysters help keep the waters clean.

One oyster, he said, cleans 50 gallons of water a day.

"It just helps our waters," said Mr. Cox.

Mr. Cox said Blue Stream has made many improvements to the property that was formerly Taylor Seafood at 53 Goulart Memorial Drive, adjacent to Hoppy's Landing.

He said he was excited that the company has plans to clean up the property.

"It's been a dumping ground for years and years," said Mr. Cox.

Mr. Leavitt told the board that the FLUPSY solar system is one he designed and is being used at Roger Williams University.

There will be two floats, each 8x20 feet. They will be on the stern end of the processing barge.

There was no public comment, and the board unanimously approved the request.

The board also held a public hearing for A&A Auto, which is acquiring the adjacent property that had a Lukoil gas station on it. A&A asked the board to amend their license to add 44 display spaces.

The company plans to renovate the existing building for offices. No repairs will be done on the site.

Engineer David Davignon, speaking for the owners, said the site will be secured with fencing all around. The Planning Board approved the plan.

Neighborhood concerns about repair cars parked on the street will be alleviated he said because the fence will make it clear where the property lines are.

Drivers also use the property to cut through to get to the streets behind A&A and Lukoil. The fencing will prohibit that, alleviating another neighborhood annoyance.

Because of the history of the property, which was once a gas station, excavation is limited. But Mr. Davignon said they would be able to repave the lot.

The company will also plant trees and shrubs for screening.

There was no public comment, and the board approved the license unanimously.

In another matter, the board accepted a gift of $3,425 to the Beautification Gift Account from Stevie's Wine and Spirits. The company held a fund-raiser auctioning off

HHR Walking Tours

The story of Standard Oil Company millionaire Henry H. Rogers and the magnificent architectural gifts he gave to his hometown are the subjects of Henry H. Rogers Walking Tours presented on Tuesday and Thursday mornings by the Fairhaven Office of Tourism, beginning June 2. The tours start at 10:00 a.m. outside the Fairhaven Town Hall, 40 Center Street, weather permitting. They will be held twice a week through the end of September.

Travel writer Malorie Yolen-Cohen (Newsday, Huffington Post) has named the Henry H. Rogers Walking Tour one of the Best 50 Immersive Tours in the Northeast USA.

Henry H. Rogers was born in Fairhaven in 1840 and graduated from the town's original high school. In 1861 he went to Pennsylvania where he and a partner started a small petroleum refinery. Eventually Rogers became a part of John D. Rockefeller's vast Standard Oil Company, assuming a top leadership role. By the time he reached his early forties, Rogers was an extremely wealthy man.

Beginning in 1885, Rogers began giving Fairhaven gifts of enormous importance — schools, a library, a town hall, a public water system, and a lovely park. He also had the magnificent Unitarian Memorial Church built in memory of his mother and the George H. Taber Lodge building built to honor a favorite uncle.

The walking tour explores the center of town where most of Rogers' gifts stand, tracing a route that includes his boyhood home and seven other places associated with him. Also viewed are the interiors of two buildings, the Town Hall and Millicent Library. Along the way you'll hear about Rogers' life, family and career.

The Thursday morning tours are guided by Christopher Richard, the town's Tourism Director. The Tuesday morning tours are guided by Robert Foster.

The H. H. Rogers Tour lasts about 90 minutes and is presented free of charge by the Fairhaven Office of Tourism. For more information, call 508-979-4085 or email FairhavenTours@fairhaven-ma.gov.

If you cannot take the walking tour, a map and guide to the Rogers buildings is published in the Fairhaven Visitors Guide, available for free at the town's Visitors Center, 141 Main Street. The Visitors Center is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Play

The MAC Theater is pleased to present its second production of the season, outdoors in Bicentennial Park, Marion (located across the street from the Marion Art Center). This project is generously supported by a grant from the Mass Cultural Council, a state agency (massculturalcouncil.org). Show Dates are June 3, 4, 5, 10, 11, 12, 17, 18. Friday and Saturday shows will begin at 6:30pm, while Sunday matinees will begin at 2:00pm. Attendees should bring their own chairs. In case of cancellation due to rain, ticket holders may choose another date or request a refund. Tickets are $18 for MAC members, on sale now, and $20 for nonmembers, on sale as of Friday, May 13. Purchase tickets at marionartcenter.org/events.

The June production features four one-act plays by David Ives, from his comedic collection. All in the Timing. Words, Words, Words, directed by Shelia McManus, recalls the philosophical adage that three monkeys typing into infinity will sooner or later produce Hamlet and asks: What would monkeys talk about at their typewriters?; The Philadelphia, directed by Linda Costa, presents two friends in a restaurant who have fallen into "a Philadelphia", a Twilight Zone-like state in which they cannot get anything they ask for; Sure Thing, directed by Donn Tyler, features two people who meet in a café and find their way through a conversational minefield of false starts, gaffes, and faux pas on the way to falling in love; and Variations on the Death of Trotsky, directed by Kate Fishman, shows us the Russian revolutionary on the day of his demise, desperately trying to cope with the mountain-climber's axe he's discovered in his head. The cast includes Melissa Bessey, Jack Boesen, Scott Fishman, Jessica Harris, Brennan McKiernan, Bill Miller, Gary Sousa, and Maura Van Voris, with Steven McManus as sound technician.

Dear Frankie

Maisie Goes to College

Dear Frankie,

Maisie is my human sibling. Last week when she came home from school, my mom said, "The letter from the college is on the kitchen counter."

As Maisie read it, she started to cry and shout, "I can't believe it, I got in."

Then my mom started crying and said, "Oh, if only your dad were here, he would have been so proud."

Finally, they explained that Maisie was accepted to her father's alma mater. I was also happy for Maisie and glad that all her hard work and late nights studying had paid off. That night when Maisie and I were snuggling in her bed, she told me how much she would miss her slumber pal. I had no idea what she was talking about. She said you know when I go away to college. Since then, I have been beyond depressed. I can't imagine I'll ever have a decent night of sleep after she leaves. I don't know what I am going to do without her.

Francine

Dear Francine,

Unfortunately, Maisie didn't tell you she was applying to out-of-state colleges. So, you weren't prepared that she might be going away to college.

It will take a while for you to get used to the idea. Once you do, I suggest you focus on the positive aspects of Maisie being away. Here are a few thoughts that came to mind.

First, you will have the whole bed to yourself and be able to stretch out and sleep on the pillows. You will also get more of your mom's time and attention because she and Maisie won't be out shopping on Saturdays. She also won't be going to Maisie's field hockey games. Your mom might even turn to you for comfort as she becomes accustomed to being an empty nester. So be ready to step up to that emotional plate.

Will you miss Maisie, of course, but there are always cell phone calls and texts. If you keep busy with your exercise routine, stretches, meditating, and deep breathing, the next thing you know, it will be Thanksgiving, and she'll be back.

Best, Frankie

Huttleston Marketplace opens for the season

By Beth David
Editor

Fairhaven's Huttleston Marketplace opened for its fifth season on Saturday, 5/21/22, with more than 70 booths selling arts, crafts, farm products, collectibles and more.

The weekly market will be held through September 17, on Saturdays from 10-3 (except for 6/25).

Sponsored by the Fairhaven Office of Tourism, the marketplace booths are spread out on the lawn in front of the Visitors Center and on the lawn of Fairhaven High School, on the corner of Main Street and Huttleston Avenue (Rte. 6).

This past Saturday, the Lions Club sold hot dogs and burgers; Dorothy Cox had ice cream and taffy, Sorbae had frozen treats, and many booths had packaged baked goods and other goodies.

But the big draw is the hand-crafted nature of most items. no large scale commercially produced products are accepted. The marketplace is meant to be a place for artists to sell their hand made items, vintage items, photography, artwork, books, etc.

Jackie from Hermit Crab Crafts said the attendance was pretty good on Saturday morning. She decorates shells and other sea products, using shells her husband, a scalloper, gets for her.

"And we comb the beaches," she said.

She likes the marketplace she said, and plans to be there every week.

Monica from Sorbae, was selling a variety of frozen treats. Her company is new, out of New Bedford, she said, and this was her first fair.

She said she was doing well with sales, but had a few changes she would make next week with her setup.

"So far, we sold a pretty good amount," she said at about noon time.

Finestkind sightings around town

By Beth David
Editor

It's no secret that the movie "Finestkind" has been filming in Fairhaven and New Bedford for weeks now. They seem to be on schedule, and that means they should be wrapping up this week in Fairhaven. They will still be in the area, though, with plans to close the Fairhaven-New Bedford swing bridge for filming on Saturday, 6/4.

The movie about two brothers (Ben Foster, Toby Wallace) who reunite as adults and work on a fishing boat out of New Bedford. Desperate circumstances force them to strike a deal with a Boston crime syndicate. A woman (Jenna Ortega) is caught in the middle. Tommy Lee Jones plays their father.

The movie was written by Academy Award winning writer Brian Helgeland, who is from Dartmouth and worked on a fishing boat in New Bedford when he was younger.

The project has been a passion of his for 20 years.

It will be released on Paramount+ Locations in Fairhaven include Rasputin's, Moriarty's, two private homes, Union Wharf, Fort Phoenix, and near 1 Main Street.

Residents have been getting a serious kick out of seeing the famous faces in town.

Barbara Despres, 89, got quite a thrill when she got to meet Tommy Lee Jones, who was filming in her neighborhood. Ms. Despres said she is a big fan so she wanted to meet him. The chance came when his truck stopped right near her house.

Encouraged by her neighbors, she got a little closer and said, "I love your movies," Ms. Despres told the Neighb News this weekend at a chance meeting at Huttleston Marketplace.

Chris Wesoly pulled out a cell phone and taped the exchange, which is available on FUN 107.

"Happy to see you," she told him.

"Happy to see you, too," said Mr. Jones.

"I hope Fairhaven has been welcoming for you."

"It certainly has," he replied.

Ms. Despres said she does not know the "young guys," but has been a Tommy Lee Jones fan for years.

Perry Hill School Pictures

The Acushnet Historical Commission, a town board, is looking for pictures of the old Perry Hill School that once stood at the corner of Perry Hill Road and Mendall Road.

The school was originally built in 1814, then rebuilt in 1844. Then it was disassembled and the wood was used to build the American Legion Hall on Hope Street.

The Historical Commission has been searching high and low for a photo of the old school buildings. If anyone has one in their possession, or has a lead on where there may be one, contact Pauline Teixeira through Town Hall at 508-998-0200.

Pet Food Drive a Success

Acushnet residents did indeed "stuff the van" at the pet food drive held on 5/9/22 at Acushnet Middle School just a couple of hours before Town Meeting. The Acushnet Council on Aging and Animal Control asked for cat food, dog food, dog treats, guinea pig and rabbit food. The results did fill the van.

"How amazing is our little town?!" posted the Acushnet COA on its Facebook page. "This is just SOME of the generous donations we received at Monday night's pet food drive. Without our residents this would not have been possible. Thank you!"

expensive bottles of whiskey.

The money will be used for litter clean-up in Fairhaven.

The board also voted to have Town Administrator Angie Lopes Ellison send a letter on behalf of the board to the Steamship Authority, which is running a pilot program to provide freight barge service from New Bedford (Fish Island) to Nantucket. The SSA did not include language in the license to restrict trucks from going through Fairhaven's residential neighborhoods. The board's letter will state for the record a request to restrict the routes to New Bedford, and voicing the board's concerns with the route.

The board held off on voting for committee appointments.

SB Chairperson Stasia Powers said she wanted to see the attendance reports before voting, and she wanted to get feedback from the chairs of the committees about who they might want appointed.

Ms. Ellison will draft an attendance policy for committee participation.

The board also wanted to hold off on voting for constables, when SB member Bob Espindola noted that one person on the list had passed away.

A note at the end of the list read: "***All names have been vetted and verified by the Fairhaven Police Department."

"If that slipped through then I have questions about the vetting," said SB member Leon Correy.

The board voted to approve the names pending the verification of the person in question, because the current appointments expire in 5/31.

In another matter, the board approved the flag policy with some changes. The requirement that the request be made to the SB at least 60 days in advance remains.

The policy defines the difference between a flag and a banner, and clearly states that the flagpole is not for use by organizations. The flags and banners will hang on the town hall.

Only flags acknowledging proclamations by the federal government or the state, and those announcing local events are allowed, as long as those events are not political, commercial, or religious.

During the public comment period, Rick Trapilo addressed the board to make his pitch for running in the Democratic primary against Rep. Bill Straus, who has been endorsed by all five SB members.

In another matter, the board designated the carriage house door of the Whitfield-Manjiro Friendship Society as surplus property. The carriage house is being restored, but the WMFS believes the door can be sold. The proceeds will go to the carriage house renovations.

In other business the board:

- Appointed Seth Baumgartner to the Sustainability Committee
- Announced the town received a $250,000 Community Compact grant for municipal fiber.

of her own going on. She was a crossing guard for years at schools in Fairhaven, so everyone pretty much knows her. She also publishes poetry and paints.

"He should be bragging that he met her," said Tori Tepe.

Meanwhile, on a different day in a different part of town, Jeff Cardoza, Commander at the VFW in Fairhaven, had his generosity repaid with a beer, courtesy of Ben Foster, one of the movie's stars.

Mr. Cardoza allowed the crew to park a truck on the premises as the were filming at Moriarty's.

Next thing he knew, Ben Foster was walking over with a six-pack of Budweiser. Mr. Foster said he appreciate veterans and just wanted to share a brew with Mr. Cardoza.

The Facetimed Mr. Cardoza's son, Jeffrey Jr., talked about his son Aiden who is a left-handed pitcher at Bishop Stang that the scouts are looking at.

They had a real conversation about kids and sports, movies and more, said Mr. Cardoza.

He even did a little video pitching Mr. Cardoza's contracting business, "Fynal Touch."

Mr. Foster autographed one of the beer cans and Mr. Cardoza's baseball cap.

It's all on Mr. Cardoza's Facebook page.

"Yes, he likes Fairhaven," said Mr. Cardoza. "He's such a nice guy."
