First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Judge Murray Gurfein, Pentagon Papers case, June 17, 1971:

"The security of the Nation is not at the ramparts alone. Security also lies in the value of our free institutions. A cantankerous press, an obstinate press, a ubiquitous press must be suffered by those in authority in order to preserve the even greater values of freedom of expression and the right of the people to know."

WEST ISLAND —
A day late and many dollars short.

We had another political assassination in this country. Conservative activist Charlie Kirk was murdered by an assassin's bullet. It was wrong when it was liberal lawmakers who were killed in Minnesota in June. It is wrong now, when it is a conservative.

I do not care about what anyone's politics are. We are not supposed to be shooting people because we don't like them or their politics.

We vote against them. We protest against them. We speak against them. We do not commit violence against them.

I will not even for a second talk about the merits, or lack thereof, of Mr. Kirk's politics. It does not matter.

We are supposed to be better than this.

We have some meeting coverage for you this week. The Fairhaven Select Board heard about the Fairhaven police program to start wearing body cameras very soon. See page 3 for that.

The last Huttleston Harborfest of the season will be a doozy! (See page 5 and ad on page 20). It will be a medieval faire with all kinds of cool dress-up stuff going on. And at night, a free showing of "A Knight's Tale" with Oscar winning writer/director (and local guy) Brian Helgeland on hand to introduce the movie.

What fun, huh?

Acushnet residents showed how tough they are at the Apple Peach Festival (see page 12). They held their parade even though the skies threatened rain. Then... it all came down on 'em, but they kept going.

Ah...gotta love a summer rain.

There's other stuff in here, of course, including the town auction notice (see page 5). I didn't have room to list everything here, but I'll put it on the website.

While you're paging through, be sure to notice who our advertisers are so you can tell them you saw their ads in the Neighb News.

Fairhaven police to start wearing body cameras

By Beth David
Editor

The Fairhaven Select Board heard from the police chief at its 9/8/25 meeting about the plan for Fairhaven patrol officers to start wearing body cameras. Police Chief, Daniel Dorgan, started out by thanking the rank and file officers, and police union.

"They want to have cameras and transparency just as much as we do," said Chief Dorgan. "I think in 2025 to go out on patrol without a camera is almost akin to going out without a bulletproof vest on."

He said it is "very beneficial" to be able to investigate false claims and complaints within a matter of minutes. He also said that the District Attorney's office said that having body camera footage gives more credence to cases.

Chief Dorgan told the board that they worked with the officers, the union, and the school department to come up with a program.

"So, it was a really good team effort and a lot of cooperation between the union and administration and I can't say enough about how excited we are to get the program off the ground," he said.

The equipment is on hand, he said. They will have a training at the end of October, and they will be deployed shortly after that.

He invited the public to call his office if they have any questions.

SB member Natalie Mello asked why one section of the policy says officers "may" be disciplined if they do not turn on the cameras during an incident when it is required, instead of saying they "shall" be disciplined.

Chief Dorgan said not all instances will be willful or malicious so they do not want to say that every time it is not used, someone will get disciplined. If an officer has to stop the camera, he or she is supposed to notify a supervisor. There are just too many variables, he said.

Chief Dorgan also gave an example of how he had forgotten his radio in the heat of the moment a couple of times. There is also a "blue light activation" on the cruisers to make it automatic.

SB member Andrew Romano said it was "extremely important," and adds accountability on all sides.

SB Chairperson, Charles Murphy, said he could think of a few instances when body cameras would have helped out in the community.

Mr. Murphy also took the opportunity to thank Chief Dorgan and the Fairhaven PD for the "incredible" job they did during the Our Lady of Angels feast.

Chief Dorgan said they had nothing but "positive reviews" from people walking in. He said they obviously threw a lot on the plate of the organizers who worked hard to meet any request.

"It shows how important the feast is to them that they were pretty much willing to do anything to keep it going," said Chief Dorgan, adding that he was happy to see it not go away because of the "foolishness" of a few people.

In another matter, the board also heard about the dismal condition of the Nimrod Cannon that the town accepted ownership of a few months ago. The cannon has been in storage, in water, for about 10 years at the Northeast Maritime Institute. The cannon was previously owned by the New Bedford Whaling Museum and on loan to Fairhaven, stored at NMI.

During the war of 1812, the HMS Nimrod attacked Falmouth, Fairhaven and Wareham. The ship ran aground off Cuttyhunk and would not float even at high tide. The captain ordered that several of the ship's cannons be thrown overboard to lighten the ship to float. The cannon at NMI is believed to be one of those cannons retrieved 180 years later.

The cannon needed to stay in water at a specific PH level for 10-15 years, changing the water periodically to keep the PH level correct, in order to neutralize the salt water that penetrated the metal.

The time has come for the cannon to be displayed.

However, according to Historical Commission chairperson, Eleanor Chew, the cannon is not in the condition they had believed it was in.

Ms. Chew told the board it appears to have a couple of big cracks, so they are not sure it can be moved.

They need to hire a metallurgist at a cost of about $5,000 to look at the cannon. Ms. Chew said she "gasped" when she heard the cost.

"So we just need some direction," she said.

The Historical Commission is overseeing the project, but the town owns it. The HC does not have the budget to pay for the metallurgist.

The cannon weighs at least 400 pounds, but might weigh up to 800 pounds, so finding a place to display it is another challenge. It needs to be inside, so the building it goes to needs to be able to support that weight.

Interim Town Administrator, George Samia, told the board he did not think the SB could go to the Finance Committee for the $5,000 because it does not qualify as an emergency. He said they would have to get the money from Town Meeting.

Meanwhile, the town owned property is being stored on private property.

Ms. Mello asked if Community Preservation funds could be used, but that would also require going to Town Meeting.

Assistant TA Anne Carreiro, said the grant consultant might be able to find a grant.

Ms. Chew noted that it will also be fairly costly to move it so they would need funding for that, too. She has not looked into that, she said, because they are not sure of the weight of it. Meanwhile, the NMI's President & CEO, Eric Dawicki, said the cannon can stay there, but he would like to know the plan.

The board decided to ask the grant consultant to look for a grant. The issue will be discussed at a future meeting.

In another matter, SB member Keith Silvia updated the board on the progress with the Atlas Tack building. At a previous meeting, Building Commissioner, Rick Forand, told the board he would send a letter to Atlas Tack about the security measures he was recommending.

Mr. Silvia said the attorney did respond to the letter. He said he did not want to say too much until they got everything back. He was just happy, he said, that they responded and said they would have someone take a look at it.

Author Talk

The Friends of the Millicent Library will host author Alfred Saulniers on Mon., 9/22 at 6:30 p.m. for a talk and book signing of his new work, The French of New Bedford: The Early Years, at the Millicent Library Rita E. Steele Auditorium, 45 Center Street, Fairhaven, Mass. (enter at Walnut Street doors).

Published by Spinner Publications, the book traces the history of the city's French-speaking community from their arrival in the 1800s, drawn by jobs in the thriving whaling industry, through their cultural and economic contributions, to the challenges brought by immigration restrictions, the 1928 Textile Strike, and the Great Depression. Featuring more than 350 rare photographs, it offers an intricate portrait of a vibrant immigrant community that helped shape the city's growth.

Saulniers, raised as a French speaker from Acushnet, earned a Ph.D. in economics and taught at leading universities before returning to the SouthCoast. He previously served as lead writer for Spinner's Picture History of New Bedford.

A Union soldier lies dead at Gettysburg in 1863. He has no identification on him. But in his clenched fingers is an image of his three children.

Learn more about how this mystery was solved and how the story captivated the public at a talk to be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 21 at the Fort Taber Fort Rodman Military Museum and Veterans Memorial, 1000 Rodney French Blvd.

Historian, author and artist Mark Dunkleman, author of "Gettysburg's Unknown Soldier: The Life, Death and Celebrity of Amos Humiston" will share details of a story that has earned a poignant place in Civil War history.

The talk marks the beginning of the museum's fall speaker series. Attendance and parking are free.

Recipe of the Week

Caramel Popcorn Brownies

1 pkg. (19.8 oz) brownie mix
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup vegetable oil
1 egg
3 cups popped popcorn
1/2 cup peanuts
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup peanut butter chips
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar

Preheat oven to 325°. Grease a 9x13" baking dish

Stir brownie mix, water, oil, and egg together in a bowl. Pour brownie batter in a thin layer in the bottom of the prepared baking dish. Spread popcorn over brownie batter and lightly press into batter. Sprinkle peanuts, chocolate chips, and peanut butter chips over the popcorn.

Melt butter in a small saucepan over medium heat. Whisk brown sugar into butter; bring to a boil, whisking constantly, and cook until the mixture has a thin caramel texture, about 3 minutes. Drizzle caramel over popcorn mixture in the baking dish.

Bake in the preheated oven until brownies are set, 30–35 minutes. Cool before cutting into bars.

Dear Frankie

The Love of My Life

Dear Frankie,
Ralph was the love of my life, my best friend, and partner. We grew up together and raised four litters of pups.

Now that he is gone, I realize the dog I thought I was, couldn't have been further from the truth.

If you asked me when Ralph was alive to describe myself, I would have said I'm energetic, decisive, and a joiner. Who was I kidding?

Since he is gone, I can't make a decision without second-guessing myself, plan my day, or muster up enough energy to go to the dog park.

How does someone who was part of a couple all of their life learn to live alone?

Marlin

Dear Marlin,

Losing a lifelong partner is a huge adjustment. Suddenly, you lack someone to talk to, share meals with, seek advice from, or walk with.

Friends can help fill these gaps, but connecting will require reaching out and planning. At first, this will feel exhausting. Over time, though, you'll create a new routine: walking with others, dining with a friend, volunteering, or meeting people who have also lost partners. You might even find a new partner.

For now, you are coping with the loss of Ralph, an end to a chapter, and an uncertain future. It's overwhelming. But with patience and kindness to yourself, Marlin, you will find your way forward.

Best, Frankie

Rain does not stop Apple Peach Festival parade

By Jonathan Comey

Neighb News Correspondent

On a day honoring the town's agricultural past and present, heavy rain wasn't going to keep the people of Acushnet indoors.

With an assist from a rainbow of umbrellas and raincoats, the annual Apple Peach Festival parade on Sunday, 9/7/25, went on as planned at 10 a.m., making a soggy slog down Main Street.

The rain was a sprinkle as the vehicles amassed near Pope Park, but by the time the convoy began moving down Main Street toward the Festival grounds it was pouring down at a heavy clip.

That didn't keep families along the route from cheering, and parade participants flashing big smiles as they waved to the townspeople and tossed candy — much of which wound up in inches water by the roadside. Kids armed with plastic bags and rain boots splashed into the fray to collect their goodies.

Despite the weather, there were folks at the foot of every side street and sidewalk for the parade, which featured a classic mix of local businesses and organizations, vintage farm gear and families.

The two-day festival features craft and vendor booths, live entertainment, and activities for children. Visit <https://applepeachfestival.com/> for more information.

Meet the new titleholders

Submitted

Acushnet's Miss Apple Peach Pageant has two new titleholders. On Saturday, August 30th, Elyza Wagner was selected as Miss Apple Peach and Aubrey Sousa was selected as Jr. Miss Apple Peach for 2025.

The pageant is open to all young women from Acushnet in grades 5-12 and. The Miss winner received a $500 scholarship, and the Jr. Miss winner received a $250 scholarship; both sponsored by the Acushnet Lions Club.

Contestants competed in four phases of competition: Opening Number, Onstage Question, Casual Wear and Formal Wear.

Miss Apple Peach 2025, Elyza Wagner, is a sophomore at Apponequet Regional High School who plans to become an elementary school teacher. She is a high honors student, a member of the Laker Leaders at her high school, and she presented to the Acushnet School Board committee to have Apponequet High School be a school of choice for Acushnet students.

Elyza enjoys dancing, playing soccer and basketball, and has been to Europe eight times (she is also fluent in Portuguese).

Jr. Miss Apple Peach, Aubrey Sousa, is a 5th grade student at Ford

Middle School and has been on the honor roll several times, as well as the recipient of Alexia Awards. She has donated to local food drives, and helped collect items for Foundations at school. Aubrey enjoys painting, dancing, roller skating, and riding her bike.

Both young ladies are looking forward to community service opportunities and being involved in Town events. To request them at your Acushnet event, message the organization via their social media pages or email MissApplePeach@gmail.com.

From our readers

Our Ultimate Handicap

My intention in this short note is for us to learn and grow in asking the following sensitive question: What do you think about when someone says the word "handicap"? Many may react with thoughts of blindness, deafness, or some crippling condition. That was my reaction until I met a job-coach specialist for disabled people during a course I took as a member of the New Bedford Public Schools Special Needs Department back in the mid 1980's.

As a quick backdrop, most of us are familiar with golf handicaps, horse handicapping, or providing odds to gamblers to make their bet "fair" or made even somehow. The job coach specialist offered a similar connection with his insightful work perspective. He said a handicap is not the individual, but what one does to offset or equalize the condition of that individual. For example, a blind person has lost sight. That person may be "covered in a handy way" or "handicapped" by use of a Seeing Eye dog, Braille, or walking cane. A "crippled" person cannot walk. That person is handicapped by use of a strategic parking space, a wheel chair, and/or a ramp to facilitate access into a building.

His fundamental goal during this course was for those of us who worked with special needs students to become more effective in placing disabled people into the workforce. Our personal focus of separating the essential worth of the person from his/her disabling condition was the motivation he shared that brought all of us a new hope.

If this seems revealing, logical, and understandable, then what do we regard as the ultimate handicap? The Bible says "for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God" and "for the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord". The Bible also declares, "for whosoever shall call upon the Lord shall be saved."

Serious physical, mental, emotional, social, and educational conditions abound and are real among us. In the midst of all our earthly challenges, however, we have a need for "'handicapping" our sinful condition because of its most significant consequences. Because you and I qualify as a whosoever, we have Jesus Christ to call upon as our free gift. By God's grace and His declaration of our true value, we may be sinners but we are not our sin. If you haven't already, won't you call upon Him right now to come into your heart, forgive you of your sins, and be Lord and Savior of your life.

In faith, to receive the Holy Spirit of Jesus Christ and become a child of the living God is work-free, an everlasting placement, and our "Ultimate Handicap"!

175th Anniversary Riverside Cemetery

Dear Friends:

To honor the 175th Consecration Anniversary of Riverside Cemetery, I invite you and the public to the celebration on Saturday, September 27th from 10:00 am to 12:00 pm at 274 Main Street, Fairhaven.

To commemorate the day, special guests will present, historic walking tours will be offered, a new entrance sign will be dedicated, two new funds, designed to preserve our legacy, will be formally announced and refreshments will be served. The first new fund is the Beautification Fund for the maintenance of the trees, shrubbery, natural plantings and flowers. The second is the Restoration Fund for the repair and maintenance of seasoned and broken gravestones. Your generous tax-deductible donation, no matter the size, will make a significant difference in helping us manage the sacred landscape honoring those who are at rest and preserving the legacy of Riverside Cemetery for future generations.

Riverside began in the winter of 1846/1847, when Warren Delano II, grandfather of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, purchased a parcel of land which was consecrated in 1850. Since then, more land was acquired, and the cemetery now totals approximately 44 acres. Riverside Cemetery is a lovely rural, garden style cemetery and is the site of the Delano family tomb, Captain Nathaniel Pope, Captain William H. Whitfield, and town benefactor, Henry Huttleston Rogers. It was dedicated on July 7, 1850.

It would be my pleasure for you to join us in marking this important milestone and thank you for your consideration in helping us preserve this important part of our community's heritage. Your donation can be sent to the address above, noting "Beautification Fund" or "Restoration Fund". For more information, please contact Tracy Travers, Trustee/Anniversary Committee at tracytravers@comcast.net.

Thank you for your time, consideration and support.
